

Trish Albright Adventure Novels

SIREN'S SONG press release

“The Princess Bride” meets “Pirates of the Caribbean” in this historical, action-packed debut novel by award-winning author, Trish Albright.

Romantic Times Magazine says: Albright debuts with an adventure romance that takes the high seas and readers into the realm of pirates, prophecies and passion. The plot twists, paranormal overtones, well-crafted characters and exhilarating adventures make for a whirlwind, nonstop read.

Readers will feel like they are in a movie as they follow the adventures of shipping maven, and slightly socially inept heroine, Alexandra Stafford, as she tries to guard an ancient map from getting into the hands of a very vicious and determined treasure hunter. Meanwhile, the hero is intent on keeping her out of danger, even if it means destroying the map himself. He gets into more trouble getting her out of trouble, but can't seem to stop himself from falling overboard for this strange and impossibly irresistible woman.

Male and female fans of the “Pirates” franchise, “The Mummy” and “Romancing the Stone” will enjoy the snappy dialogue along with the chemistry between the two stubborn, strong, sea captains charged with stopping the villains from obtaining the clues to unlocking a mysterious prophecy.

Siren's Song will be in stores July 1, 2008.

The second in the series,
Siren's Cipher, is an April-2009 release.
